legends in our mind

The dutch rocktrio Legends in our Mind may be regarded as Rotterdams' worst kept secret. For almost two years now, the band traveled all around the country to do what they're best at : blowing minds, breaking hearts, and leaving burning tracks when they get off stage afterwards.

Three boys met each other after years filled with adventures that brought them along ska, punk, reggae, metalcore - and Europe. With their minds more than ever set to the purity of music, they produce an ever increasing number of songs that can be pushed under labels like rock 'n roll, emo, wave - if you wish to push them under a label anyway. The always present influence by rockmonsters like U2, The Police and Muse is added by a touch of flavour of the week (currently being Dredg, Saybia, Incubus).

Since march '03, the band has added an acoustic set to their catalogue. With this addition to the sometimes overwhelming electric set, Legends in our Mind can play at any stage, on every streetcorner, anywhere on the planet. With an extra guitarist and a violin player, the typical LioM-sound is translated into a similar, yet different feel. The one and only way to turn a stadium-rockact into a wedding combo!

Legends in our Mind will also play both acoustic and electric on their upcoming European Tour, which is supposed to lead them through Germany, Czech Republic, Italy and France. After this, the band will return to their homecountry to continue working on a sequel to their mini-cd Living for Today, which was released in a steaming Nighttown (Rotterdam) on september 14th 2002.

Selfconfident as musicians, but humble as a band, knowing that there is so much to improve and so many dogs eating dogs out there, Legends in our Mind tries to perform to their best and, if the best is good enough, reach the sky.

"Pay attention to What you do to me, already a candidate for Summer-smashit 2003. Unique sound, unique band, highly recommended!"

(Live XS)

" .. the characteristic sound is what's most charming about this cd"

(OOR)

"Especially opening song 'What you do to me' is convincing with its bluesy tic en the pleasant vocals of Ralf 'Lovehandle Mastwijk"

(DutchDemos)

Legends in our Mind previously performed in venues like Nighttown (3x), Waterfront, Speakers, Winston Kingdom, Simplon, Amuse, Koornbeurs (4x), 013 and Off Corso.
